History

Founded in 1975, LSC is one of the country's first non-profit law firms dedicated to representing children and youth. We pioneered the model of multidisciplinary holistic advocacy that is considered best practice in children's legal services today.

Vision

All children should be raised in a safe, stable, and nurturing environment with equal access to meaningful education and other services that are necessary to thrive and grow. Our youth deserve positive alternatives to unnecessary placement in foster care, juvenile justice facilities, and immigration detention.

Approach

Our young clients may be assigned by the court, referred by a caring adult, or they may come to us on their own, via a phone call or by visiting a drop-in clinic. When we open a case, we assign an attorney and social worker who function as a team and tap into diverse community resources to address the interconnecting concerns of every client—legal, physical, social, psychological, economic, and educational. We empower our young clients to take active roles in their cases and the critical decisions that affect their lives.

Our Clients

Each year we respond to 1,500 requests for information and referrals, and handle over 500 newly opened or continuing client cases involving foster care, guardianship, emancipation, school expulsion, and immigration matters. The majority of our clients are children of color and half speak a primary language other than English.

SPECIAL HONOREE

Liz Butler Steyer

For over 20 years, Liz Butler Steyer has been an advocate for children and youth in the Bay Area. She is currently the Executive Director of the Athletic Scholars Advancement Program (ASAP), a college access program in San Francisco that works with low-income students of color. Prior to joining ASAP, Liz worked at Legal Services for Children for over 12 years in a variety of legal and managerial roles, including Managing Attorney and Acting Director of the organization. In 2004, she transitioned from staff member to the Board of Directors, holding the position of Board Chair from 2006 – 2010. Liz also serves on the Board of the Giants Community Fund and John Gardner Fellowship Association.

After many years of involvement with LSC, Liz is stepping down from her position on the Board of Directors. In honor of her dedication to this organization as an intern, fellow, staff attorney, managing attorney, acting executive director, and Board chair, LSC is establishing the Liz Butler Steyer Fund for Child Advocacy to reflect Liz's commitment to legal services for our community's most vulnerable children.

Steyer Fund for Child Advocacy to reflect Liz's commitment to legal services for our community's most vulnerable children.

Every year, LSC hosts 10-15 legal interns who receive extensive training on juvenile law and trauma-informed legal services. LSC also sponsors a Certificate in Child Advocacy and honorarium for qualifying interns when they graduate from law school. The Liz Butler Steyer Fund will provide the resources to sponsor one internship for an emerging child advocate and graduate each year, and will stand as an enduring tribute to our friend and colleague, Liz Steyer.

GUEST AUTHOR

Calvin Trillin

Calvin Trillin is the author of Dogfight: The 2012 Presidential Campaign in Verse and a regular contributor to The New Yorker for nearly 50 years. He has been called “perhaps the finest reporter in America.” His wry commentary on the American scene and his books chronicling his adventures as a “happy eater” have established his reputation as “a classic American humorist.” Trillin has written several best sellers including About Alice, Remembering Denny, and Messages from My Father.

Trillin was born and raised in Kansas City, MO, and now lives in New York City. He graduated from Yale in 1957, did a hitch in the army, and then joined Time. After a year covering the South from the Atlanta, Georgia bureau, he became a writer for Time in New York. In 1963, he also became a staff writer for The New Yorker. From 1967 to 1982, he produced a highly praised series of articles called “U. S. Journal” – 3,000 word pieces every three weeks from somewhere in the United States. From 1978 through 2001, Trillin was a columnist for The Nation and for Time. His columns have been collected in five books. His Quite Enough of Calvin Trillin was awarded the Thurber Prize for American Humor in 2011.

Trillin also lectures widely, and has appeared often as a guest on television. He has written and presented two one man shows at the American Place Theater in New York – both of them critically acclaimed and both sell-outs. In reviewing “Words, No Music,” in 1990, New York Times theater critic Mel Gussow called Trillin “the Buster Keaton of performance humorists.” Trillin has been a trustee of the New York Public Library and of Yale University. He also is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

PRO BONO ADVOCATE HONOREES

The following recipients of the 2013 Pro Bono Advocate Awards were selected for diverse reasons—devoting long hours of service or taking on multiple cases, stepping up for a particularly challenging case, employing innovative legal strategies, or going “above and beyond the call of duty” in a notable way. Whatever the nature of the case or the situation of the client, each of these attorneys has made a life-changing contribution to the well-being of a child and we are proud to salute them today.

Cary Chien is an associate at McDermott Will & Emery LLP and is based in the firm’s Silicon Valley office. He focuses his practice on intellectual property litigation and has litigated a broad array of patents in hardware, software, search engine, and television program guide technologies. He earned his B.S. in computer science from Santa Clara University and then became a test engineer for NetIQ, an enterprise systems management software company. While completing his J.D. from Santa Clara University School of Law, Cary clerked in the Office of the City Attorney in San Jose, and was Chief of Staff to a San Jose Councilmember and an aide to a California State Senator. With coast-to-coast immigration interviews, Cary and a team of lawyers and assistants from McDermott, and then law student Sharan Dhanoa, secured asylum for their young LSC client – an unaccompanied minor from India, who was attacked and whose father was killed by political rivals.

Travis Gibbs, a partner at Nixon Peabody, has extensive experience as bond counsel and tax counsel in public offerings of municipal securities, including general obligation bonds, certificates of participation, school district bonds, hospital issues, variable rate financings, cash flow financings, small issue industrial development bonds, nonprofit corporation equipment financings, tax allocation bonds, refunding bonds, and rebate excepted financings. In addition to tax-exempt financing, he has had experience in a variety of other tax law matters for corporation, municipal, nonprofit, and individual clients. Travis earned his B.A. from University of Florida and J. D. from University of Texas. He is a member of the American Bar Association (Section of Taxation, Tax-Exempt Committee), a former member of the Steering Committee for the Bond Attorneys Workshop sponsored by the National Association of Bond Lawyers, and a member of the National Association of Bond Lawyers. Travis took several education cases for LSC in the last year and fought to keep the youth in school.

Pritee K. Thakarsey is an associate in the Labor & Employment Department of Seyfarth Shaw based in the firm's San Francisco office. Her practice is focused on all facets of employment law. She counsels and represents employers in single-plaintiff and multi-plaintiff litigation, including discrimination, wage & hour, and harassment matters. She also represents clients in state and federal courts and has successfully managed litigations through motions for summary judgment. Pritee is member of the firm's Workplace Counseling & Solutions Group and Hospitality Industry Group. During law school, she interned at the Attorney General's Office for the California Department of Justice, Criminal Law Division. She also published numerous law review articles, including "Catching up to the California Medical Board: The Dental Board of California May Take Action Against Registered Sex Offenders" and "California Wants More Clout: Moving the Presidential Primary to February." Pritee graduated with Lambda Pi Eta Honors from University of Southern California, received her J.D. from University of the Pacific, and is a member of the South Asian Bar Association of Northern California. Pritee took on an extremely challenging case where she obtained a guardianship for her LSC client who was in need a safe and secure home.

Bingham is proud to support Legal Services for Children and its advocates. Congratulations to all the honorees on this well-deserved recognition.

PRO BONO SERVICE WITH LSC

LSC coordinates and supports a panel of 200 attorneys throughout the San Francisco Bay Area who represent youth on a pro bono basis in guardianship, school discipline, and immigration cases. Last year these advocates handled 154 cases and collectively contributed over 4,000 hours of legal service valued at $2 million. This powerful force of legal volunteers significantly increases LSC's capacity to serve the Bay Area's most vulnerable youth.

No experience in LSC's practice areas is required as each volunteer attorney receives training as well as ongoing technical assistance from LSC's experienced staff attorneys. In-house corporate counsel attorneys are encouraged to join. For more information please contact Katie Fleet at 415-863-3762 ext. 310 or katie@lsc-sf.org.
